

The Ecological Society of Japan

The Ecological Society of Japan was founded in 1953 to promote research in all aspects of ecology. Membership is open to anyone interested in ecological science.

Officers for the year 2020

President

Takakazu Yumoto, Kyoto University, Japan

Managing Director

Tadashi Miyashita, Tokyo University, Japan

Office

Address: 1-8 Nishihanaikecho, Koyama, Kita-ku, Kyoto 603-8148, Japan

URL: http://www.esj.ne.jp/esj/e_index.html

Fax: +81-75-384-0250

Overseas Membership

To join the Ecological Society of Japan, please visit the official website and open the Online Application System (https://iap-jp.org/esj/admission_en/member/) .

The annual fee for an individual, due on 1 January, is JPY 9,500. Members are entitled to receive the electronic versions of two journals: Ecological Research (in English; six issues per year) and the Japanese Journal of Ecology (in Japanese; three issues per year).

Numbers of Participants for Recent Annual Meetings

The 64rd, 2017 14–18 March in Tokyo	The 65th, 2018 14–18 March in Sapporo	The 66th, 2019 15–19 March in Kobe
2,814	2,306	2,799

Current Number of Members

4,066

Status of Access to the Ecological Research Website

Geographic patterns of access to the Ecological Research (ER) website (<http://www.esj.ne.jp/er/index.html>) from 1 January 2019 through 31 December 2019. Darker color represents more frequent access.

Worldwide-
Accessed Journal

Research Fields of Published Papers in 2019

Proportional composition of research fields published in Vol. 34 of ER

Paper Award

The purpose of the Ecological Research Paper Award is to recognize outstanding papers and their authors in each volume (6 issues a year) of ER. The Board of Editors of ER selects approximately five papers annually as excellent papers. The recipients are not limited to members of the Ecological Society of Japan.

Selected papers become open access!